Class Of 1952 To Observe 'Lantern Walk' Custom

The Class of '52 will gather under the flagpole Friday after dark for the graduates' annual Lantern Walk.

Robed in the academic cap and gown and carrying the traditional lantern, each senior will make a tour of the darkened campus. At each building a senior will make a farewell address to that structure.

This tradition was started by Dr. Pittman in 1935 and was designed to give the graduating class an opportunity to bid farewell to the Alma Mater.

Starr Stars In Masquers Election

Jo Starr has been elected president of Masquers for the fall quarter of 1952. Other officers are Rosie Ammons, vice president; Doris Ford, secretary; Phil Norton, treasurer; and Dorothy Ford and Carl Tyson, publicity.

At the last meeting of the year the club presented Miss Dorothy Stewart with a gift of farewell.

Christy Trowell, "China" Altman and Frances Ammons presented an original skit. The latter two were officially accepted into membership.

Large Graduating Class Get Diplomas Monday

The Alumni Association will dedicate an east campus entrance as a memorial to Dr. Charles H. Herty, and the first president of the college will give the baccalaureate address in the commencement at Teachers College.

Exercises in tribute to Dr. Herty will take place at 11:30 a. m. Saturday, May 31, near the college site where the famous Milledgeville chemist perfected the first cup and gutter for the collection of gum turpentine.

A new brick gate, costing $1,800 and paid for by the alumni, will bear a plaque to be unveiled in testimony to Dr. Herty's work. The trunk of the first tree on which a Herty Cup was placed, the "Herty Pine," will be sunk in the ground below the tablet.

The dedication will be the big event of a schedule ending with graduation exercises at 10:30 a. m. Monday, June 2, in which Dr. Ernest V. Hollis will be the speaker.

Dr. Hollis, chief of College Administration in the Office of Education Zach S. Henderson will accept. The plaque was given to the college in 1935 by the late Mrs. M. E. Judd of Dalton. It bears the inscription:

"On this tree on July 20, 1901, the first cup and gutter for collecting gum turpentine was placed by Dr. Chas. H. Herty and his assistant Frank Klarpp. Here began a revolution in the naval stores industry."

Seniors will perform their annual Lantern Walk, in which they tour a darkened campus to reflect on college experiences, Friday night, May 30.

The commencement sermon will be preached at 11:30 a. m. Sunday, June 1, by the Rev. Marion Bradwell, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Waycross.

There are 109 candidates for graduation:

Catherine Cooper Adams, Valdosta; Emily Adamson, Morrow; Richard Manning Augley, Fairfax, S. C.; Marilyn Barwick, Adrian;

DR. ERNEST V. HOLLIS
Former Teachers College President

Betty Anne Bedingfield, Dublin; Joan Carolyn Bennett, St. Simons Island; Dan Upshaw Biggers, Toccoa; Richard Elton Bland, Colocation, Federal Security Agency, Washington, D. C., was president of the college from 1920 to 1926 when it was the First District Agricultural and Mechanical School and then Georgia Normal School. He was at the helm when the institution, chartered in 1908, actually became a college.

The Alumni Day Saturday is the last one to be planned by Dr. Marvin S. Pittman, president emeritus, retiring after five years as director of extension and alumni activities. The program will include reunions for the classes of 1932, 1937, 1942, and 1947, induction of the Senior Class into the Alumni Association, a lunch, banquet, and dance.

Mrs. Henry J. McCormack of Statesboro, Alumni Association president, will present the Herty memorial to the college, and umbus; Alvin Waldo Bowen,

The Editor Bids Farwell

THE LAST GEORGE-ANNE of the year has gone to press.

This is a good opportunity for sentiment concerning the year's efforts in the publication, but it will be sufficient to say that the paper owes any degree of success it has achieved largely through the efforts of Jim Hodges, Joe Neverla, and Mary Helen Altman.

Others who have contributed their time and efforts in staff work include Rosie Ammons, Cherrell Williams, George Parrish, Betsy Tippins, Gilbert Hughes, Martha Wood, and Betty Eason.

Each, by unselfish contribution, has won the undying gratitude of the editor.

Unanimity The Goal

THE FACULTY SPONSORS for the Class of '52 have expressed the desire for the goal of 100 per cent class membership in the college alumni association.

This graduating class has been exceptional in all worthwhile aspects throughout our undergraduate course, so it will be fitting if we establish the precedent of unanimous membership in the alumni association.

There are many benefits to be gained by joining the association, including a subscription to the Alumni Bulletin; as a means of keeping in touch with friends of college days.

We're Passing On

By DURELLE HAGIN

We think we've reached the end of the road,
Thankful that now we lay down our heavy load.
But, really, we've only gone around the first bend;
Nor have we many burdens of young women and men.

We think it's been hard, and only smart people succeed,
But we'll yet have tougher lives to lead.
Our rocks may be high, and so long is our trail,
And still we know we must not fail.

We haven't yet realized our tomorrow's task;
We think we know it and will pass through fast.
And, yet, we've so much to understand—
Like the joy and sorrows of a helping hand.

Our new life has only just begun,
And we're rejoicing over our first battle won.
Many more will we fight and be unsuccessful;
Many times we'll be burdened, and many times restful.

And if we remember the little things in school,
The things we learned, like the "golden rule"—
Tomorrow's task won't be half as tough,
And our path we trod won't be near as rough.

We'll be able to lend a hand to people in need,
And the call to arms we'll gallantly heed.
We'll always be there and do our share
In the land of tomorrow so bright and fair.

These past years have been easy for some of this class;
For others it seemed tough and they barely passed.
But now this group of one hundred and nine
Are proud that they worked forward and did not drop behind.

In each of our faces there seems a new light,
For we receive our diplomas without a fight.
This diploma will be cherished by each one—wait and see.
And remembering the days at good old "TC."

And, so, dear friends, as we pass on through this hour,
And step out in tomorrow like a new budded flower,
To become in this nation good women and men
With God's help, which, we are sure, He will send.

Poems By Pat

The following poems were written by Pat Rountree, student of the Laboratory High School. The George-Anne takes pride in having within its columns these pieces of creative writing. We think Pat has shown in these works that she possesses the ability to write, and we encourage her to continue.

GOD'S HAND

I often wish, when everything seems wrong,
That life was done;
That all conflicts
And victories were won.
But then I see what life would be,
Without our trials and tribulation,
To strengthen us for what is to be,
To make us better men and women,
When we meet God—
When heaven's gates we are within.
But yet we resist God's eternal hand.
God touches the tree's head,
And it does not resist his soothing touch.
God leads all who will be led.
Will you?

God gives eternal life
To the trusting little flowers,
Because they bloom for Him,
Every minute, every single hour.
He gives lasting beauty
To the lovely glowing sunset,
To the trusting child he gives courage,
Because of the sorrow they have met.
He wants to give new life to you,
Do not resist Him yet!
Go to Him in your sorrow,
And your happiness, too,
And put Him first, always,
No matter what you do.

I sat fascinated
As I watched the fire tonight.
I sat fascinated
As the logs burned bright.

I saw the dreams that I have dreamed
Of castles built in Spain,
And dreams of a couple
Strolling down a country lane.

Dreams of a wedding
One day in June,
And, finally, of a couple
On a honeymoon.

I saw the dreams of
A little country home,
And just you and me
There all alone.

Then as the embers die
And as the day is through,
I realized my dreams
Were all dead, too.

Do you ever get used to walking
into a room,
And finding him not there?
Do you ever get used to going to bed
And breathing his name only in
in a prayer?

Do you ever get used to not talking
to him,
Or walking without him, too?
Do you ever get used to being alone,
Even in a crowd? Do you?

Do you ever get used to not touching his hand,
Or hearing him call your name?
Do you ever get used to not having him,
And remembering how he came?

Do you ever get used to not feeling his arms
Around you, in happiness and fear?
Oh! God, please tell me,
Do you ever get used to not having him near?

The West Hall girls have the strangest habits... beds filled with soap flakes, popcorn, etc. What's up?

Calrice Browder was fooled into going to a surprise birthday party. The only surprise was that it was her own!

Harvey Hogan plays a fine role as a groom... Always ready to aid in the Home Ec. Department.

Where could Jane Seabolt have been going in such a rush? Especially from psychology class.

Barbara Ann Jones made quite a hit... on the floor, that is, on Monday morning.

Bettye Hendrix and Joyce Vaughn were most-disturbing—as they sang to the music of a uke the other night.

Ann Altman seems to be a "pro" on creating new titles for stories in Children's Literature class.

Mary Flanders never gives up at getting Jo Starr to breakfast. She knows all the techniques... just ask Jo, if you are doubtful.

Fran Hawkins and Lucy Olmstead were heard discussing the joys and woes of their adventures in West Hall. It surely must be the "Wild West," from the sound of things!

Augusta is becoming world famous for her hamburgers. At least Boney Phillips, Sonny Fordham, and Rudy Mills think so!

The West Hall girls threw a big P.J. party Friday night. We hear it was quDite a shin-dig.

Anyone interested in having their floors mopped... see Gene Roberts—at once! For a sample, check the little store.

Mrs. Jackson's girls have been wonderful about remembering her while she is ill. By the way, Miss Bolton is doing a swell job keeping West in operation.

Faine Greene and Edith Chalker ran a shrimp race at the "T" Club party.

Walton Ewing made the famous art gallery of Ad. Building. Good work, Peggy!

Christy Trowell's latest nickname is Rip Van Winkle. It's not everybody who can sleep through one class and 15 minutes into the next.

We thought we'd heard of everything in beds—salt, etc.—but a discus and two chairs are a new idea.

FBLA Plans Book Exchange Agency

The FBLA has undertaken as its major project the establishment of a book exchange for the benefit of the students.

Students who wish to sell textbooks may leave same in room 32 where an office has been set up for exchange purposes. The club will take charge of the books and make contacts for owners.

The club does not intend to buy the books, but will act as an agency for their exchange.

NEW REGULATIONS SET UP BY U. S. ARMY, AIR FORCE

The U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force recruiting station has announced a new change in current regulations affecting reservists and National Guardsmen who plan to re-enter the Armed Forces.

Reservists and National Guardsmen who have completed at least 12 months active service in the U. S. Army continuously, may re-enlist with the same rank as discharged provided the re-enlistment is accomplished within 90 days from date of discharge. Individuals in this category are also eligible for a re-enlistment bonus at the present time.

Anyone desiring further information concerning this program may contact the U. S. Army and

Early Enrollment Required At Lab

Beginning with the next school year, the Teachers College Laboratory School will admit new students in grades kindergarten through six only on advance application, Dr. Morris A. King, principal announced today.

The practice of a pupil's enrollment simply by presenting himself at the school, Dr. King said, has been discontinued because of enlarged student body. The school is trying to keep its enrollment in line with its teaching staff and equipment.

Availability of a new elementary school building in September is expected to stimulate the demand for admission.

Applications will be considered up to the opening of school in September, Dr. King said. He is supplying forms for applying.

Preference will be given to children who have brothers and sisters already enrolled in the school. In the kindergarten, first acceptance will be assigned to children who will enroll in the Laboratory School first grade in September, 1953.

Harley and Smith Join Prof's Squad

All-State basketball players Jim Harley of Brewton-Parker Junior College and Billy Joe Smith of Cochran High School have accepted athletic association scholarships and will enroll at Teachers College in September, J. B. Scarce, Jr., Teachers College athletic director, said today.

The college, which just this year adopted a policy of announcing scholarship awards, already had disclosed the acceptance of Ernest Massy, whose 23-point scoring average at Roosevelt High School set an Atlanta record.

Harley's home is at Warner Robins. A six-foot, one-inch guard, he averaged 13 points last season and was selected to junior college all-state and all-regional teams.

Smith, who plays forward or center, was a letterman for four years and a unanimous choice for all-district honors in his junior and senior years. He made the all-state quintet in 1950 and has been named to play in the North-South All-Star Game in Atlanta in August. He stands six feet and weighs 173 pounds.

Scarce said he will have open four starting positions vacated by seniors.

Beeler Beats Bill

Beeler Thompson, Gordon freshman, recently won the campus singles tennis championship by trimming Billy Pafford in the finals.

Thompson used a very good serve to keep the game fast and was very accurate in placing his shots. Pafford used his smash extensively and kept Thompson running hard to make returns.

Thompson won the match by scores of 6-3, 1-6, and 6-4.

FTA Elects New Officers

The local chapter of the Future Teachers of America has recently elected officers for the coming year.

Ann Nevil, newly-elected president, heads the slate of officers. Other officers are Windell Duncan, vice president; Marth Wood, secretary; Gilbert Hughes, treasurer, and Ann Broome, reporter.

Dr. Georgia Watson will continue to serve as chapter sponsor. The FTA has had a successful year, highlighted by the team visit to 18 Georgia high schools.
